Welcome to All Officers, Directors, and Members of the Federal Bar Association Across the United States,

As Chief Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, and honorary chair of the 2011 Federal Bar Association National Convention, it is a privilege and pleasure to welcome you to Chicago. Our city's legal community is honored that you have chosen to be with us for this exciting event.

On behalf of all the judges on my court and the federal practitioners who appear before us, I congratulate my good friend Fern Bomchill as she assumes her role as the National FBA President. I know that under Fern's leadership, the FBA will continue to promote high standards of competence, diligence, and ethical conduct among all federal lawyers and judges across the country.

The members of the FBA, federal practitioners and judiciary alike, benefit greatly from the FBA's commitment to enhancing the administration of justice. In this tradition of excellence, I am honored to celebrate with you the past and future achievements of the FBA.

Sincerely,

Greetings!

As Governor of the State of Illinois, I am pleased to welcome everyone gathered for the Federal Bar Association's National Convention hosted by the Chicago Chapter.

Since its establishment in 1920, the Federal Bar Association (FBA) has remained dedicated to the advancement of the science of jurisprudence and to promoting the welfare, interests, education, and professional development of all attorneys involved in federal law. I commend the FBA, and its members, for your continued commitment to the improvement of the legal system here in the United States. I am certain that the variety of educational tools and resources, along with various seminars and networking opportunities made possible by this event will greatly benefit all attendees.

Each person gathered for this meeting is to be commended for your dedication to advancing the Federal Bar Association's efforts. I would particularly like to recognize outgoing National FBA President Ashley Belleau on her accomplishments over the previous year and to congratulate Fern Bomchill on her installation as the Association's new President. I am certain that under her leadership the FA will continue its great work into the coming year and beyond.

On behalf of the people of Illinois, I offer my best wishes for an enjoyable and memorable event.

Sincerely,

CLE Sessions

Thursday, Sept. 8

9:00–10:00 a.m. Session 1: The U.S. Reaction Since 9/11 (1 hour CLE credit)

Speakers: Hon. Richard A. Posner, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit; Geoffrey R. Stone, professor, University of Chicago Law School.

10:15–11:45 a.m. Session 2A: Hot Topics in Renewable Energy Law (1.5 hours CLE credit)

Discussion of renewable energy policy; public interest group perspective on wind energy development; hot topics in project finance of renewable energy; and issues arising from development of utility corridors for renewable projects.

Speakers: Robert Edwards, deputy general counsel for energy policy, U.S. Department of Energy; Howard Learner, executive director, Environmental Law & Policy Center; Paul Forrester, partner, Mayer Brown LLP; Sheila Slocum Hollis, partner, Duane Morris LLP.

10:15–11:45 a.m. Session 2B: Gideon v. Wainwright—A Multimedia Presentation: Looking Backward, Going Forward (1.5 hours CLE credit)

Featuring original memorabilia, vintage film-clips, and interviews of Clarence Earl Gideon, his Supreme Court counsel Abe Fortas, counsel for Florida Bruce Jacob, and retrial counsel W. Fred Turner; excerpts of the 3-hour oral argument before the Supreme Court and current reflections of Jacob, Turner, and constitutional scholar John Hart Ely, who played a significant role in the original Supreme Court briefing.

Speaker: Paul M. Rashkind, supervisory assistant federal public defender and chief of the Appellate Division, Office of the Federal Public Defender, Southern District of Florida.

1:45–2:45 p.m. Session 3A: The Challenge of Immigration Court Reform (1 hour CLE credit)

Dear Friends:

Welcome to Chicago and the 7th Congressional District! I understand that it has been 50 years since Chicago has had the opportunity to host the FBA. Congratulations to all the members and guests present at this most august occasion. I join you in thanking outgoing President Ashley Belleau for outstanding service rendered and welcoming incoming President Fern Bomchill.

I understand that this year's event includes some extraordinary programs including a debate between Judge Richard Posner and Professor Geoffrey Stone on the United State's Reaction Since September 11th, a program on Recent U.S. Supreme Court Decisions Impacting Class Actions with Chief Judge James Holderman, Chief Judge Gerald E. Rosen and Judge Layn R. Phillips, and a program on Diversity with Judge Ann Williams.

I invite every attendee to find the time to sample Chicago rich cultural and gustatory offerings and trust that all those in attendance will be uplifted by the spirit of the Convention and moved to soberly and creatively ponder the historic challenges we confront as a nation at this moment in history.

Sincerely,

Greetings and Welcome:

I am honored and pleased to send personal greetings and congratulations to the Chicago Chapter of the Federal Bar Association as you host your National Convention in our fair city. Special congratulations to Chief Judge James Holderman, Honorary chair of the convention, and to Mayer Brown Chicago partner, Fern Bomchill on being installed as the National Federal Bar Association President at this convention. We also welcome the lawyers and federal judges from across the nation that will attend.

As the world becomes increasingly interconnected, it is crucial that America shows its best face to the world. I can think of no better place to show that face than the City of Chicago. Your convention is a great opportunity to feature, not only extraordinary continuing legal education and diversity programs, but fabulous social events which include the Art Institute and Shedd Aquarium.

On behalf of the people of the 1st Congressional District of Illinois, Congratulations, wishing you much good fortune and continued success in the years to come.

Sincerely,

FEDERAL BAR ASSOCIATION LETTER

Friends,

It is an honor to help welcome you to the 2011 Federal Bar Association's installation dinner. I wish to thank the Bar for including me on this wonderful occasion.

Since it's founding in 1920, the FBA has served legal professionals working within the federal legal system by offering support, promoting the profession and working to continue the legal education for its members and the community of legal professionals. It is thanks to these efforts, and many more, that the FBA has become the premier legal organization for federal legal professionals around the nation.

I am pleased with the FBA's decision to hold their national conference in Chicago, a city with a great history of promoting and supporting a strong legal profession and the administration of justice.

It is also a pleasure to know that Fern Bomchill begins service as the next President of your distinguished organization. Under her leadership, I am confident that the FBA will be able to continue their mission of strengthening the federal legal system.

I wish the very best for continued success and progress for the FBA and very much hope you enjoy the 2011 national convention.

Sincerely,

Gabriel Aizenberg is a commercial litigator whose practice encompasses a variety of litigation areas, including fraud, contractual disputes, business torts, breach of fiduciary duty, claims of trade secret misappropriation, and government contracts. He has successfully represented clients in veil piercing litigation, litigation overcoming the asset-protection features of both foreign and domestic trusts, asset turnover and tracing proceedings, and proceedings to freeze assets both here and abroad. Aizenberg is outside general counsel for litigation matters for a local private school and an officer of the Holocaust Educational Foundation. He also has represented several federal prisoners in civil rights cases in district courts and the court of appeals.

Professor Ron Allen is the John Henry Wigmore Professor of Law at Northwestern University in Chicago. A graduate of Marshall University and the University of Michigan School of Law, Allen is an internationally recognized expert in the fields of evidence, criminal procedure, and constitutional law. He has published seven books and over 100 articles in major law reviews; he has been quoted in national news outlets hundreds of times, and appears regularly on national broadcast media. Allen has worked with various groups in China to help formulate proposals for legal reform, and he was recently retained by the Tanzanian government to assist in the reform of their evidence law.

Janice A. Anderson has over 25 years of experience focusing on health regulatory and compliance issues. Her practice focuses on corporate health care and transactional law and has specific expertise in structuring hospital/physician alignment strategies to improve the quality and cost effectiveness of care. Anderson is knowledgeable in the areas of legal and regulatory compliance and has extensive experience with issues involving Stark, anti-kickback, HIPAA, EMTALA, False Claims Act, reimbursement, and civil money penalty laws. She also advises nonprofit governing boards on a wide range of issues. Prior to her law firm tenure, Anderson was the general counsel, vice president, and corporate compliance officer for Borgess Health.

Hon. Wayne R. Andersen retired from the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Illinois in 2010. A 1970 graduate of the University of Illinois College of Law and a 1967 graduate of Harvard University, he remains a co-holder of the 100-yard dash record and is a member of the Harvard Varsity Club Hall of Fame. In 1984, Judge Andersen was elected to the Circuit Court of Cook County; in 1991, President George H. Bush appointed him to the U.S. District Court. Judge Andersen is currently a mediator/arbitrator for JAMS, a volunteer member of the Deepwater Horizon Joint Investigation Board investigating the oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico, an adjunct professor at Northwestern University Law School, and a mentor at the University of Illinois Institute of Politics.

Hilary Axam has served as acting director of the Human Trafficking Prosecution Unit in the Department of Justice Civil Rights Division since 2009, and a special litigation counsel in the unit since its inception in 2007. She has been a prosecutor with the Civil Rights Division since 2001. Axam has prosecuted and supervised some of the most significant human trafficking cases in the United States, involving both forced labor and sex trafficking. In 2006, she and the team from United States v. Carreto received the Executive Office of U.S. Attorneys' Director's Award. Previously, Axam worked internationally as counsel to the Judiciary of the Republic of Palau and as a Fulbright Fellow at the Centre for Applied Legal Studies in Johannesburg, South Africa.

Dean Douglas G. Baird is a 1975 graduate of Yale College and a 1979 graduate of Stanford Law School, where he was elected to the Order of the Coif and served as the managing editor of the Stanford Law Review. Before joining the faculty in 1980, he was a law clerk to Hon. Shirley M. Hufstедler and Hon. Dorothy W. Nelson, both of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. Baird served as dean of the Stanford Law School from 1994–1999. His research and teaching interests focus on corporate reorganizations and contracts.

Peter Baugher has been a partner at Schopf & Weiss LLP in Chicago since 1989. Prior to joining the firm, he was a partner at Chicago law firms Schiff, Hardin & Waite and Adams, Fox, Adelstein & Rosen. A 1970 graduate of Princeton University and 1973 graduate of Yale Law School, he served as an editor of the Yale Review of Law and Social Action. Following law school, clerked for Hon. Philip W. Tone of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit. Baugher was a principal drafter of Illinois' 1998 International Commercial Arbitration Act. He is currently chair of Illinois Senator Mark Kirk's Judicial Advisory Board, where he screens potential federal judges for the senator and president of the Chicago International Dispute Resolution Association.

Ashley Belleau is a partner with Montgomery, Barnett, Brown, Read, Hammond & Mintz LLP in New Orleans, where her main areas of practice include commercial litigation, business law, and alternative dispute resolution. She is the national president of the Federal Bar Association; she is a past president of the New Orleans Chapter and is a past vice president for the Fifth Circuit. Belleau graduated from Newcomb College and Tulane University Law School. Before entering private practice, she served as a judicial law clerk for Hon. Henry A. Mentz Jr. in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana. Belleau has been recognized as a Louisiana Super Lawyer, a Barrister of the Tulane Chapter of the American Inns of Court, and a Fellow of the Foundation of the FBA.

Under Elizabeth J. Cabraser's leadership, Lieff Cabraser has become one of the country's largest law firms serving clients seeking to redress for financial and consumer fraud, anti-competitive practices, harmful drugs and products, and illegal employment practices. She has served as court-appointed lead, co-lead, or class counsel in over 80 federal multi-district and state coordinated proceedings. She has held leadership roles in landmark cases such as the Exxon Valdez disaster. Cabraser has been repeatedly recognized as one of the foremost litigators in our nation; in 2010, the American Bar Association Commission on Women in the Profession honored Cabraser with its Margaret Brent Women Lawyers of Achievement Award.

Wm. Frank Carroll is a trial and appellate lawyer who for the past three decades has been lead counsel in high stakes, high profile business litigation. He is board certified in Civil Trial Law and Civil Appellate Law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization, one of fewer than 100 attorneys in Texas with such dual certification. Carroll has a primary emphasis on federal court, class action, financial institutions, antitrust, securities, and intellectual property trials and appeals, as well as the defense of government investigations. He has been an arbitrator since 1979 and has represented many clients in arbitration matters. Carroll also serves as an adjunct professor at Southern Methodist University's Dedman School of Law, where he has taught since 1978.

Learner is an adjunct professor at Northwestern University Law School, teaching an advanced environmental law seminar. He is a 1980 graduate of Harvard Law School and a 1976 graduate of the University of Michigan.

Scott Mendeloff has tried to successful conclusion well over 50 cases in a wide array of areas in both the civil and criminal arenas in federal and state courts around the country. Beyond trial work, Scott has delivered highly favorable results in the commercial and white collar areas alike. From 1986-1997, Scott served in the U.S. Department of Justice, and in 1996-1997, he served as one of the primary trial lawyers in the prosecution of Timothy McVeigh for the Oklahoma City bombing. The Justice Department has awarded Mendeloff the Attorney General's Award, the Director's Award, and other commendations. A frequent guest legal analyst on national and local television programs, Scott has appeared on numerous programs.

Jane K. McCahill represents health care institutions and providers in corporate transactions that involve complex health care regulatory and reimbursement issues. She regularly advises clients on managed care arrangements and Medicare and Medicaid coverage and payment matters. McCahill's noteworthy experience includes handling internal investigations and responding to governmental fraud and abuse investigations. She also counsels joint venture entities and physician groups to meet Stark anti-referral requirements. McCahill represents providers responding to certification, licensure and accreditation surveys and EMTALA complaints and hearings. She also advises on privacy requirements under federal HIPAA standards.

Mary Meg McCarthy has served as the executive director of the National Immigrant Justice Center since 1998. She oversees all aspects of NIJC's legal services, advocacy efforts, and programmatic and operational functions. Under McCarthy's direction, NIJC has become the leading immigrant and human rights organization in the country. In addition, she has developed an unparalleled pro bono network of more than 1,000 attorneys. She has testified before congressional committees on human rights and the need for immigration reform. She is a frequent speaker at national and international conferences and has been quoted in leading news outlets. Prior to joining NIJC, McCarthy practiced civil litigation and served as a pro bono attorney for NIJC's asylum project.

Osuna is a graduate of George Washington University, the Washington College of Law at American University, and American University's School of International Service. Previously, he served the Department of Justice as an associate deputy attorney general and a deputy assistant attorney general. Before working at DOJ, Osuna served as chair and member of the Board of Immigration Appeals. Prior to that, he held various senior editorial and management positions at West Group (now Thomson West), a leading legal publisher. Osuna teaches immigration policy at George Mason University School of Law.

Danuta B. Panich has a varied practice encompassing advocacy for and advice to employers in all aspects of employment and labor law. In particular, Panich has represented some of the nation's largest employers in FLSA collective actions and state law wage hour class actions. In addition to her labor and employment practice, Panich devotes substantial attention to assisting professional services firms and companies with litigation preparedness planning. Panich is frequently asked to speak or provide training on litigation techniques, electronic discovery and records management. She has also authored several articles on these topics, and is active, through her leadership role in the FBA, in developing continuing legal education programs for practitioners and their clients.

Ronald R. Peterson is a partner in Jenner & Block LLP and is AV Peer Review Rated, Martindale-Hubbell's highest peer recognition for ethical standards and legal ability. He has concentrated his practice in the areas of commercial, insolvency and bankruptcy law, focusing primarily on representing debtors, trustees, creditors' committees, landlords, and secured lenders in Chapter 11 cases. In addition to his insolvency litigation practice, Peterson counsels clients on a variety of transactional issues. He has been a member of the panel of Chapter 7 Trustees for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, since 1987. He presides over approximately 100 consumer bankruptcy cases per month. Peterson graduated from the University of Chicago Law School and from Ripon College.

Professor James E. Pfander has focused his teaching and research on federal jurisdiction and procedure. Much of Pfander's recent work deals with the history and structure of Article III of the Constitution and the role of the Supreme Court of the United States in relation to inferior courts and tribunals. In 2009, Oxford University Press published his book on that subject, One Supreme Court: Supremacy, Inferiority, and the Judicial Power of the United States. Other books include Principles of Federal Jurisdiction (2006) and Civil Procedure: A Modern Approach (5th ed. 2009). A member of the American Law Institute, Pfander currently serves as reporter/consultant to the Federal-State Jurisdiction Committee of the Judicial Conference of the United States.
