Dr. C. MALIK BOYKIN

Assistant Professor in the Department of Cognitive, Linguistic, and Psychological Sciences (CLPS) at Brown University

Dr. C. Malik Boykin is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Cognitive, Linguistic, and Psychological Sciences (CLPS) at Brown University. His research focuses on intergroup relations, hierarchy, prejudice, and racial identity. These themes inform his research on attitudes toward bias in decision-making algorithms. By understanding how social dynamics and human behavior inform algorithmic bias, we will be better equipped to make algorithms more just and trustworthy. Dr. Boykin has affiliate appointments with the Center for the Study of Race and Ethnicity in America (CSREA) and the Data Science Institute (DSI).
