

Law360 Project Finance Editorial Advisory Board

Law360, New York (February 21, 2014, 11:56 AM ET) -- Law360 is pleased to announce the formation of its 2014 Project Finance editorial advisory board.

The purpose of the editorial advisory board is to get feedback on Law360's coverage and to gain insight from experts in the field on how best to shape future coverage.

The members of the 2014 Project Finance Law360 editorial advisory board are:

Jeffery R. Atkin, Foley & Lardner LLP

Jeffery Atkin is a partner with Foley and chair of the solar energy team and a member of the energy industry team. His experience covers business and financial matters, including renewable energy, project finance, private placements, mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, real estate development and equipment procurement and leasing.

Brett J. Cohen, Glaser Weil Fink Jacobs Howard Avchen & Shapiro LLP

Brett J. Cohen, a partner in Glaser Weil's finance department, develops creative solutions to difficult financing issues. Whether he's working on behalf of lenders, borrowers, developers, joint venture partners or corporations, Cohen provides critical expertise needed to ensure completion of what can often be a complex and challenging financing process.

Richard M. Filosa, Morgan Lewis & Bockius LLP

Richard Filosa is a partner at Morgan Lewis. He has extensive experience in all phases of the development and project financing of power facilities and other infrastructure projects. Filosa represents developers, sponsors and financial institutions in these areas. He also has experience in M&A transactions involving power and other infrastructure assets.

Robert Freedman, Shearman & Sterling LLP

Robert Freedman is a partner in the project development and finance group of Shearman & Sterling. His practice focuses on finance and development, asset acquisitions and dispositions and complex workouts and restructurings of infrastructure assets, internationally and in the United States. Freedman is the leader of the firm's sustainable development practice.

John Leonti, Troutman Sanders LLP

John Leonti is a partner at Troutman Sanders LLP. Leonti advises financial institutions, sponsors and institutional investors regarding complex financial transactions in the energy sector, ranging from tax equity and debt transactions to over-the-counter derivatives transactions, including physically and financially settled hedges for renewable projects.

George Miller, Mayer Brown LLP

George Miller is a partner in Mayer Brown's global projects and infrastructure groups. He has worked on numerous Project Finance Magazine "Deals of the Year," including the 2009 and 2010 North America Transport Deals of the Year, and transport and energy projects in the U.S., Latin America, Asia and Africa.

Martin Toulouse, Baker Botts LLP

Martin Toulouse is an energy finance partner at Baker Botts. He represents financial institutions, funds and public and private companies in a wide variety of financing matters, including project, acquisition and portfolio financings, commodity hedging arrangements and other structured finance transactions. He has significant experience in the power, oil and gas, LNG and mining sectors.

Thomas Trimble, Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP

Thomas Trimble is a partner based in Akin Gump's Washington, D.C., office. He represents large corporate and private equity fund clients in the energy, mining, telecom and chemical industries in major international infrastructure and project finance transactions, including transactions in more than 35 countries across five continents.