

Law360 White Collar Editorial Advisory Board

Law360, New York (February 29, 2016, 8:14 PM ET) -- Law360 is pleased to announce the formation of its 2016 White Collar editorial advisory board.

The purpose of the editorial advisory board is to get feedback on Law360's coverage and to gain insight from experts in the field on how best to shape future coverage.

The members of the 2016 White Collar editorial advisory board are:

Richard W. Beckler, Bracewell LLP

Richard Beckler is a partner in Bracewell's white collar defense practice and head of the litigation practice in Washington, D.C. His practice focuses on complex civil and criminal litigation, including defense of corporate and individual clients. He recently represented Halliburton in the Deepwater Horizon explosion matter in the Gulf of Mexico. He currently represents several corporations in Foreign Corrupt Practices Act matters.

Mark S. Cohen, Cohen & Gresser LLP

Mark S. Cohen is a co-founder of Cohen & Gresser and the chair of its white collar defense and litigation practice groups. A former federal prosecutor in the Eastern District of New York, his white collar practice includes regulatory enforcement, internal investigations, criminal antitrust, and FCPA and other anti-corruption matters.

Greg Deis, Mayer Brown LLP

Greg Deis is a partner at Mayer Brown LLP whose practice focuses on internal investigations, white-collar criminal defense and complex litigation. Previously, Deis served as an assistant U.S. attorney in Chicago assigned to the Public Corruption section.

Todd Haugh, Kelley School of Business, Indiana University

Todd Haugh is an assistant professor of Business Law and Ethics at Indiana University's Kelley School of Business. Haugh teaches and writes on white collar crime, federal sentencing and business ethics topics. He is a former Supreme Court fellow, federal law clerk, and white collar criminal defense attorney at Winston & Strawn and Stetler Duffy & Rotert.

Linda Dale Hoffa, Dilworth Paxson LLP

Linda Dale Hoffa is chair of the White Collar Practice Group at Dilworth Paxson and focuses her practice on criminal defense, internal investigations and compliance. She teaches at the University of Pennsylvania Law School, and is a former criminal division chief at the Philadelphia U.S. Attorney's Office and counsel for the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Matthew J. Jacobs, Vinson & Elkins LLP

Matthew J. Jacobs is a partner in the San Francisco office of Vinson & Elkins and serves as co-chair of the firm's Government Investigations & White Collar Criminal Defense practice. A former federal prosecutor with more than 20 years of experience, Matt's practice includes internal investigations, government investigations, and white collar matters of all kinds, as well as complex commercial litigation

David Laigaie, Eckert Seamans Cherin & Mellott LLC

David Laigaie is chair of Eckert Seamans' White Collar Defense & Internal Investigations practice. His practice is focused on internal corporate investigations, health care litigation, compliance and complex civil litigation. Dave handles cases involving health care fraud, securities fraud, tax fraud, export violations, pharmaceutical marketing fraud, municipal corruption, defense procurement fraud and public finance fraud.

Deborah Kemi Martin, Dechert LLP

Deborah Kemi Martin is an associate in the white collar and securities litigation group of Dechert's New York office. She represents companies and individuals in internal investigations, government investigations, securities litigation, and complex commercial disputes both domestically and internationally. Previously, she served as law clerk to Chief Judge Theodore A. McKee at the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Third Circuit and Judge Gregory M. Sleet at the U.S. District Court for the District of Delaware.

Carolyn F. McNiven, Greenberg Traurig LLP

Carolyn McNiven, a former federal prosecutor, focuses her practice on healthcare enforcement defense and anti-corruption compliance. She represents Fortune 50 and private companies facing parallel criminal and civil investigations and False Claims Act actions. McNiven has deep experience designing corporate anti-corruption compliance programs for companies operating in India and China.

Pravin Rao, Perkins Coie LLP

Pravin Rao is a partner at Perkins Coie and a member of the firm's White Collar & Investigations practice. He defends high-profile clients in government enforcement matters, conducts internal investigations, and counsels on compliance issues. Rao is a DOJ/SEC appointed FCPA corporate monitor and previously served as an assistant U.S. attorney and SEC Enforcement Branch chief.

Claire Rauscher, Womble Carlyle Sandridge & Rice PLLC

Claire Rauscher is a partner at Womble Carlyle where she focuses her practice on complex white collar litigation. Before joining Womble Carlyle, she served as the first executive director of the Federal Defenders of Western North Carolina. She received her undergraduate degree, cum laude, from the University of Pennsylvania and her law degree from Temple University School of Law. She is a fellow in the American College of Trial Lawyers.

Jonathan Schmidt, Ropes & Gray LLP

Jonathan Schmidt is a lawyer in Ropes & Gray's Government Enforcement Group. He represents companies and individuals facing government action, investigations and prosecutions. Schmidt, a former federal prosecutor, is an experienced trial attorney and has led more than 50 jury trials. He also spent two years in Sarajevo as an International War Crimes prosecutor.

Jacqueline Wolff, Manatt Phelps & Phillips LLP

Jacqueline Wolff, a former federal prosecutor, is co-chair of the Corporate Investigations & White Collar Defense practice at Manatt Phelps & Phillips. She has successfully defended companies and individuals in FCPA, False Claims Act, and healthcare, securities and immigration fraud cases. Her focus is in the life sciences, healthcare and financial services sectors.

--Editing by Emily Kokoll.

---

All Content © 2003-2016, Portfolio Media, Inc.