About Mayer Brown's Public Companies & Corporate Governance Practice

- Our Public Companies & Corporate Governance practice brings together experienced lawyers from the firm's Capital Markets, M&A, Securities Litigation & Enforcement, Employment & Benefits, Labor, and Public Policy, Regulatory & Political Law practices.
- As part of our Public Companies & Corporate Governance practice, we provide guidance on the allocation of responsibilities among directors, board committees and senior management and develop appropriate governance documents, policies and procedures reflecting stock exchange requirements and evolving investor concerns.
- We advise on voting and other governance rights of shareholders, as well as best practices relating to other matters, including, but not limited to, climate change, diversity, equity and inclusion, human capital management and other ESG matters; required disclosures; stock repurchases; trading plans; stock ownership reporting requirements; recapitalization and restructuring transactions; dividend policies; liability management activities; executive compensation and stock-based compensation plans; and financing activities.
