OUR DERIVATIVES & STRUCTURED PRODUCTS PRACTICES AT A GLANCE

We are one of the only firms with a leading derivatives practice in London, New York, and continental Europe, and with a strong derivatives presence in Hong Kong.

With respect to transactional work, we are market leaders in using derivatives as components of, or in connection with, highly structured financings, such as with deal contingent swaps involving F/X or commodities, issuer-based equity derivatives and structured share repurchase programs, and use of structured derivatives transactions to support or supplement financing for funds and other investors.

“Mayer Brown covers all major jurisdictions in the world,’ says an appreciative client, who adds: ‘They are among the best in the market.’” CHAMBERS GLOBAL

We assist clients in adapting to changes in the US derivatives market brought about by the Dodd-Frank Act and the European derivatives market by EMIR, MiFID, and CRR/CRD IV. We assist financial institutions to achieve greater levels of capital efficiency, and a return to product development in a post-reform environment.

Our lawyers assist clients in navigating their obligations under the US Commodity Exchange Act, as amended by the Dodd-Frank Act, and US federal securities laws; formulating compliance programs and working with clients to implement those programs; and counseling clients in discussions with the CFTC, SEC, and self-regulatory organizations for novel issues.
