PARTNER | WASHINGTON DC

BRESNIKOFF@MAYERBROWN.COM +1 202 263 3110

Brad Resnikoff represents non-US and domestic financial institutions on regulatory, enforcement, and strategic issues. Global financial institutions seek out Brad for representation in significant multijurisdictional civil, criminal, and regulatory enforcement proceedings relating to money laundering issues, tax crimes, US economic sanctions, and corrupt practices. He assists clients with developing investigation strategy and manages internal investigations to assess allegations of misconduct, manage risk, and advise on legal strategies with regulators, law enforcement, Congressional investigators, and partner institutions. Clients praise his deep understanding of financial crimes laws and regulations and the complexities arising in cross-border contexts, including issues related to data privacy and legal privilege. Brad has in particular developed an in-depth knowledge of private banking business practices and related financial crimes risks, through representations of the world's foremost private banks on a variety of sensitive and strategic matters over the last nearly 15 years.

Clients also turn to Brad for guidance on legal and regulatory issues related to cross-border lending and securities activities, enhancing policies and procedures and compliance monitoring, performing risk assessments, employee training, and, where necessary, adopting appropriate remedial measures.

RICHARD ROSENFELD

PARTNER | WASHINGTON DC

RROSENFELD@MAYERBROWN.COM +1 202 263 3130

Richard M. Rosenfeld is the co-lead of Mayer Brown's Securities Litigation and Enforcement Practice and regularly counsels and represents financial services firms, corporations, funds, directors and their committees, officers, and employees in securities related business, regulatory, and compliance issues.

Securities Investigations: Richard uses his more than two decades of experience in the securities field, including more than a decade in increasingly senior government regulatory and enforcement positions, to defend SEC, CFTC, FINRA, DOJ, CME and other securities-related investigations. He leads internal investigations, often advising clients on preventive compliance and remedial measures before and after securities-related issues arise.

SEC Investigations: Richard acts as lead attorney in high-profile SEC investigations primarily representing well-known US and internationally based financial services firms. Typically, Richard's greatest successes for his clients never become public, as he has succeeded on many occasions in resolving matters before charges are filed or there is any public disclosure of the government's interest. Earlier in his career, Richard served in the Division of Enforcement at the SEC where he handled complex securities frauds and was detailed as a special prosecutor to US Attorney's offices across the country to assist in matters involving cross border financial fraud and disclosure, asset management issues, derivatives and insider trading, money laundering, and bank, mail, and wire fraud.

Securities Litigation: Richard calls upon his securities litigation experience in the federal courts in matters involving allegations of fraud, whether it be financial reporting violations, insider trading, market manipulation, or other regulatory or compliance issues, to advise on transactions, regulatory compliance, corporate governance, policies and procedures, and other SEC-related concerns.

LEE RUBIN

PARTNER | NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

LRUBIN@MAYERBROWN.COM +1 650 331 2037

Lee Rubin is a civil and criminal litigator with extensive experience in private practice and in the government, where for eight years he served as a prosecutor in the Department of Justice and as an Assistant United States Attorney for the District of Columbia. Lee, who has tried approximately 25 jury trials and has argued matters in the federal courts of appeals and the highest courts of the States, has a wide-ranging practice, with a concentration in the defense of corporations and individuals in criminal investigations and prosecutions and civil enforcement actions by government agencies, often involving alleged violations of the securities laws. He has also served as lead counsel in a number of internal corporate investigations, and has been involved in numerous securities fraud, antitrust and False Claims Act matters, as well as trade secrets and other commercial litigation involving technology companies. Following law school, Lee served as a law clerk to the Honorable Warren J. Ferguson, United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.
