

Mayer, Brown, Rowe & Maw is Ranked as a Top Ten Trademark Firm in the United States June 2007

We are pleased to announce that our Intellectual Property Practice has recently earned a top ten ranking in the United States from Intellectual Property Today. This ranking is based on the 530 US trademark applications filed by the firm in 2006, a 32 percent increase over 2005's filings. This year's list comprises 172 law firms and individuals.

Intellectual Property Today, published monthly since 1994, focuses on legal issues in patent, trademark and copyright law. Regular features emphasize developments in cutting edge technology and their effect on intellectual property law practice.

Our international trademark practice is diverse in terms of client mix, and varied in terms of service offerings. We regularly advise clients as diverse as leading financial institutions, pharmaceuticals, consumer goods, and media and entertainment companies—from as far West as California to as far East as Hong Kong. The services we provide to these diverse clients range from prosecution to transactional to litigation.

This ranking of our US IP group by Intellectual Property Today complements the status of our highly ranked German IP group, which for decades has been recognized as a global leader with one of the largest trademark portfolios under administration. In addition, our UK IP group's trademark filing practice more than doubled in just 3 years.

We currently manage more than 30,000 trademarks worldwide for our clients and oversee several thousand trademark opposition proceedings every year.
