Global Insurance Industry Group

Our global insurance industry group represents over 400 insurers, reinsurers and insurance-related entities in transactional, regulatory and dispute resolution matters. Across global markets, Mayer Brown represents insurers and reinsurers, as well as brokers, banks and investors, in a range of transactional matters that include mergers and acquisitions, capital raising and sophisticated insurance structured finance at the convergence of the insurance markets and the broader capital markets.

Warranty & Indemnity Insurance

The use of Warranty & Indemnity insurance (sometimes also referred to as Representation & Warranty Insurance – "R&W" or "W&I") in mergers and acquisitions in Asia has grown rapidly in recent years following a similar trend in the US and Europe. Our Insurance M&A group has developed an extensive and market-leading practice representing insurers in underwriting W&I insurance policies and buyers and sellers in using these policies.

Since 2010, when we handled our first W&I insurance matter for one of our London-based insurance clients, we have handled hundreds of W&I insurance matters and have expanded our client base to many different W&I insurers.

Our lawyers have had front-row seats to the development of the W&I insurance industry over the last several years and therefore have developed deep insights on how W&I insurance works and how W&I insurers think. We also have close relationships with various top W&I brokers who can help place the insurance.

Tax

Our tax structuring practice is led by Pieter de Ridder, a Singapore-based partner who has extensive experience in the tax aspects of private equity, mergers and acquisitions, capital markets transactions, and a range of other tax related services. He regularly assists underwriters, buyers and sellers by reviewing the possible tax coverage in W&I policies across Asia.
